DEDICATION

BECAUSE SHE IS MOST VITALLY CONCERNED WITH THE YOUNG WOMEN OF TODAY, BECAUSE SHE UNDERSTANDS THEM, BECAUSE SHE IS GIVING HER ALL TO TRAINING THEM IN WAYS OF "INTELLIGENT SELF-DIRECTION," BECAUSE HER EXAMPLE FIRES EACH OF US WITH ENTHUSIASM FOR THIS CHOSEN PROFESSION OF OURS, AND BECAUSE HER OWN EAGER ACTIVITY KEEPS HER YOUNG WITH US, WE RESPECTFULLY DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO MISS KATHERINE MINER ANTHONY
Prologue

IN this day of re-adjustments, corrections, new starts, and emergence from blind, unheedful, headlong speed, people are pausing to turn their thoughts inward, to take stock of themselves. Especially is it fitting that we who are prospective teachers should be going through this reconstructive introspection. Therefore in the making of this book we have thoughtfully looked at ourselves and have taken as our theme what we have found.

MARCH 16, 1934

The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes. The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever: the judgments of the Lord are true, and righteous altogether. More to be desired are they than gold, yea than much fine gold . . . and in keeping of them is great reward. Who can understand his errors? Cleanse thou me from secret faults. Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me. . . .

Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my Strength and my Redeemer.
OUR Heavenly Father, help us, we pray, as students of this generation, to seek through thy Son deliverance from sin and to hear thy voice of guidance into paths of righteousness and peace. Our youthful lives are offered to Thee in these days of misunderstanding and confusion. With grateful spirits we present to Thee all we possess of body, mind, and heart, in order that thy kingdom may come in the earth in which we live and serve. Give us the courage to face the truth—to see what there is of right and of wrong in our lives and hearts. Grant us to hold fast to the one and to leave the other. Forgive us, accept us, and teach us to have the joy of the more abundant life. This is our earnest prayer, in the name of our Christ, Amen.
She loves the out-of-doors.

Senior Class History

"At the foothills, climbing—"

We were high school graduates. The world lay at our feet, subdued, conquered by our own praiseworthy efforts. Pride we felt in our achievements—a just pride, perhaps—when we considered what almost insurmountable obstacles we had overcome and how far along the road of life we had traveled on our own merits, as we egotistically supposed.

Nevertheless, we looked forward to our college days, never guessing, in our ignorance and innocence, what it would mean to be once more humbled to the commonplace status of freshmen. Sophisticated as we were, how could we know there were those yet more worldly-wise, all-powerful, and great?

We came to Stone-Hill full of eagerness and anticipation as we thought of this new phase of life soon to be added to our lists of the vanquished—of those who drew aside to let us pass, bowing to our superior intellects, our talents, and our abilities. We were certain that our reception within the blue-gray walls would be a joyful one, as the faculty and the students already there would realize that their ambitions regarding the best of new arrivals at the institution were finally fulfilled. We, the alert, experienced, in-coming group, would establish ourselves firmly as the heads of the college, and all would run smoothly and easily.

Old girls, who said they were our "Big Sisters," greeted us in a charming, friendly manner, calculated to make us feel at home in their world. We newcomers smiled at each other and thought, "Never mind! We won't hurt these smiling, good-natured beings yet—but they'll soon understand that it's really our world they're referring to."

During that first week we bravely strove to hide whatever feelings of timidity and homesickness we may have felt under our polished exterior, and daily we determined that we must begin to put those so-called "upper classmen" into their proper spheres. But daily we procrastinated; our Big Sisters were so kind and thoughtful—why, they actually began to stir up feelings of contentment in things as they were and to make us wonder if affairs might not be sweeter and more pleasant if the responsibility were left to them instead of transferred unobtrusively to our shoulders.

The end of the week found us properly chastened and awed. Even we could not contemplate a reception at Hillcrest—introductions to the entire faculty at one time—without some inward quakings. Attired in our best bibs and tuckers, we sought the courage of companionship as we moved toward the home of Dr. Duke. We were delighted with its informal-formality, but that duly appreciated feature could not quite still our rapidly beating hearts. We loved it, every minute: we, as adults, approved of the long, dressed-up receiving line; as children, we enjoyed the cordial smiles and good-humored laughter over mistakes in names. But when we left, we had discarded permanently our dreams of reigning supreme over a system already well-established, dignified, and worthy. We understood, finally, that although we were necessary, as freshmen, to the future life of the college, we were also, as freshmen, relatively insignificant as compared to the faculty and to the seniors, juniors, and—yes, even sophomores.

The beautiful symbolic wedding, which soon followed, and the noisy, high-spirited and hard-fought Old Girl-New Girl basketball game, shortly after, molded our ideas to embrace the school, not merely self and class. Oh, we naturally still felt that no freshman class in the history of the school had ever been the equal of ours in any way; but we now valued that fancy because we felt it measurably increased the standards of our school as a whole, for we by ourselves meant little. We needed background to show up our distinction.

By the following spring we were an integral part of the college. We were members of interesting and commendable societies and clubs. We understood our teachers, to a certain degree, and hoped they thoroughly appreciated us. Gradually we were learning how to study, how to think for ourselves. We grew to the point where we could value the appearance of a large number of quality credits but could see the worth of acquiring social ease as well.

On our class day we appeared suggestively clad as milk-maids, with bonnets, aprons, and pails. We tried to tell our sister classes that we represented the meekness, the humility, the patient labor of the milk-maid, yet we held our heads proudly to display our high ideals and ambitions, and to show that even the lowliest milk-maid among us was needed and prized.

As sophomores we returned to our former cocksureness and swagger. We felt that surely, this time, there could be no error, and we were supreme. We had been unusually fortunate, and to celebrate our successes, we frolicked through one brilliant February day with horse-shoes and fourleafed clovers and rabbits' feet, depending entirely on our luck and gaining renown because of it. We were lucky—lucky to be students here, lucky to be members of such an outstanding class, lucky constantly.

The junior jockeys rode cheerfully and surely on toward the end of the race. Many of the former participants were absent now, because they had reached their goals. We who remained, however, in gay yellow and white, urged our noble steeds to greater efforts. Once again we sensed the other important ones around us, and we were especially impressed by our sister-class, who entered with the usual visions and bravado, and by the seniors, who were nearer the goal than we. In the dust of the race-track we could see their flying forms and could vaguely discern the outlines of the winning post. We eagerly pushed onward!

Now we sobered a trifle as, in our dark caps and gowns, we walked around the campus with stateliness and a touch of sorrow. The weight of responsibility attached to senior dignity burdened us, as we were finally struck with the importance of being a senior, not of being a freshman.

We have reached the end here. The milk-maids have been promoted to dairy heads, to teachers of prospective milk-maids. The lucky sophomores have learned the true merit of their happy, blessed experiences. The jockeys rest their mounts after a hard, fast race. The capped and gowned worthies meditate upon the future.

As high school graduates we felt there was nothing left to gain. As college graduates we turn our minds inside out, appalled to see how shockingly little we have stored there. We do not consider ourselves adequate to go forth and teach the children of our young, progressive nation. We catch the vital significance of our motto—"At the foothills, climbing—."

It is a difficult task to choose from the abundance of material at hand those isolated facts which, taken together, may be called a history of the Sophomore Class of 1934. However, this brief résumé of the highlights of our life at H. T. C. will serve well its purpose if, in after years, it can help the members of our class to keep green in their memories the schooldays of 1932-1934.

The history of the Sophomore Class began on September 19, 1932, when the bus, train, or family car brought 233 girls from all parts of Virginia, from West Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, Texas, Georgia, Tennessee, Mississippi, even from Cuba, and left them freshmen on the campus of H. T. C.

How vividly the events of the first quarter at college stand out in our memories: the bewildering rush of teas, parties, classes, meetings, games, "big sisters," the old girl-new girl basketball game, our formal débüt at the faculty reception, the freshman "bride" sweeping down the aisle to meet the old-girl "groom," class organization, with Frances Wells as president—then, examinations. Shall we ever forget the night-exam, the midnight movie, and the dismissal for our first Christmas holidays?

At the beginning of the second quarter most of us were back on campus, ready to take part in any activities that might come our way. And, to judge from the number of freshman goats that kept "butting" into various organizations, the activities were not long in presenting themselves.

After the mid-winter dance—our first one—the campus began buzzing with plans for Founders' Day. It so happened that, as freshmen, we were privileged to take part in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college.

Soon came Easter and then, the crowning event of our freshman year, class day. Bedecked as big league baseball players, we tried to convince everyone that, as a class, we were playing the game of life fairly and squarely. June found us the only class in the history of the institution that had completed its first year with a perfect record in conduct.

We came back from the summer vacation feeling a bit important over our "little sisters," sophomore privileges, and across-campus dormitories. However, new powers brought us new responsibilities. For some of us, they brought student teaching—a thing far more trying than Mr. Hanson's community paper or Dr. Phillips's frogs, of the previous year.

Under Elizabeth Thweatt as president, we pressed bravely toward our second class day. This time, our theme was "Sailing to Success," and right nautically was it carried out.

Now we have reached commencement, which, to about half our class, means graduation. We are thoroughly entrenched in the activities and organizations here on campus. We have formed valuable friendships with faculty members and with college-mates. As freshmen and sophomores, we have grown, and we hope that our future history may show a similar growth and that the next two years will be as happy and fruitful as the past two have been.

The Student Government Association is Harrisonburg’s central organization, representing every phase of our campus life. Its very existence rests upon the acceptance of individual responsibility, so necessary in every democratic set-up. “Democracy is something deeper than liberty; it is responsibility.” From the very beginning of the life of our association, this has been its motto. We are beginning now, in these so-called “serious thinking” years, to feel how far a sincere interpretation of this guide may affect student life.

Our goal this year has been to tear away from Student Government the wall that student opinion had built up around it. Unless we really believe that Student Government is not an agent for the restriction of student activity, but rather a power working for harmonious group living, this association will become a body of stifled energy.

Students of the world, as well as those of our own campus, are beginning to realize the importance of well-organized group living, based upon high ideals. None are higher or more forceful than our own—those of personal honor and individual responsibility. Each year we renew our pledge to maintain these high ideals. We can never afford to allow a standard to become a few words written upon a scrap of paper. Our Student Government will rise just as high as the ideals and the personal sincerity of the individuals who compose it.
“I am come that you may have life and have it more abundantly.” The Y. W. C. A. has attempted to realize this motto and to make Christ more truly live on the campus this year through its program of work.

A very large percentage of the four hundred and fifty members were usually present at the regular devotional meetings on Thursdays and Sundays, when such topics as “The Life of Christ,” “Building a House of Character,” and “Religion in Music, Art, and Nature,” were considered. Several exchange programs with the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. of Bridgewater College have been given. Every Thursday morning the cabinet and other girls who wished to come have held a morning watch.

The Social Service Committee has taken the Children’s Home in Harrisonburg for its special project. Girls have gone on Sunday afternoons to tell the children stories and to sing and play for them. The Y. W. C. A. was responsible for the Home’s Christmas celebration. Besides sending a large box of toys, the Cabinet dressed dolls for the little girls.

In social activities, the Y. W. C. A. has sponsored a Hallowe’en banquet, a party for the new girls, a breakfast, and two teas, one for the student body and one for the delegates to the Hi-Y conference.

Two representatives were sent to the Y. W. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, where they met with Y. W. leaders from all over the South to discuss ways to make the association more vital on the college campus.

Kappa Delta Pi

Alpha Chi chapter is one of the ninety-one similar divisions of Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in education, organized June 8, 1911, at the University of Illinois and now represented by thirty-seven states. The purpose of the organization is “to encourage in its members a higher degree of devotion to social service by fostering high intellectual and personal standards during the period of preparation for teaching and by recognizing outstanding service in the field of education.” We consider Kappa Delta Pi a “Student Body Organization” because membership in it is based so entirely on personal merit. Those who are eligible are required to be of at least junior collegiate rating, to have a general scholarship grade within the upper quartile, and to have shown qualities of leadership and strength of character.

The chapter has carried on a most interesting and instructive program during the past year. Nineteen new members have been pledged to the organization; $25 has been contributed to the Kappa Delta Pi Scholarship Fund; and letters have been sent to the 195 Alumnae Kadelpians who are teaching or following other professions in the District of Columbia, in Cuba, and in 12 states.

Janie Shaver and Mildred Simpson represented the local chapter at the Kappa Delta Pi Convocation in Cleveland, Ohio, in February.

The following faculty members made addresses at chapter meetings during the year: Mrs. Edna T. Frederikson spoke on Contemporary Novelists; Miss Sallie Blosser spoke on War and Peace; Mr. C. T. Logan reviewed Gertrude Stein’s The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas; and Dr. Ruth Phillips spoke on the A. A. U. W. conference on the Cause and Cure of War. In January Dr. Florence Stratemeyer, National Executive First Vice-President of Kappa Delta Pi, spoke to the student body on modern educational problems. Following the talk, the chapter entertained Dr. Stratemeyer at a tea in Alumnae Hall.

The annual picnic brought pleasantly to a close a most successful year.

The Glee Club, functioning from the foundation of the college and more formally re-organized in 1915, was the first college glee club in Virginia to affiliate with the Federation of Music Clubs. Its aim is twofold, to create further interest in music and to serve as a college choir.

The campus activities for this year included a Christmas Vesper Service, an American music concert, a joint recital with Miss Frances Houck, soloist, and a joint concert with the Washington and Lee University Glee Club. Public performances off campus included sacred concerts at local churches, programs at the Federation of Music Clubs in Buchanan, Virginia, and at the Virginia Educational Association in Richmond, Virginia, a joint concert with Washington and Lee University Glee Club in Lexington, and participation in the Winchester Apple Blossom Festival and the Music Festival in Charlottesville, Virginia.

Stratford Dramatic Club

Director, Miss Ruth Hudson

Honorary Member, Mr. Conrad Logan

Ever since its organization, in 1919, the Stratford Dramatic Club has stood for the presentation of plays of high quality on the campus. This year the club feels that it has held up to this standard. In the fall quarter the club presented a comedy of English society life, The Cassilis Engagement, by St. John Hankin. In the spring a play by A. E. Thomas was given, Come Out of the Kitchen.

In January practically the whole club visited Mary Baldwin College to attend the program, Styles in Acting, presented by Miss Dorothy Sands.

During National Drama Week, in February, the club was very active. It sponsored a chapel program at which one of the members talked on The Little Theater Program in America. The society gave a formal tea for the faculty in Alumnae Hall. On Saturday of that week a short skit, It Sometimes Happens, and a one-act play, Wurzle Flummery, by A. E. Milne, were given in Wilson Hall.

In its weekly programs the club has enjoyed a variety of entertainment and instruction. At one meeting, make-up was studied and actually applied to type characters. At another, costumes were discussed and real models brought before the group for observation. At other meetings, plays were reviewed, actors and actresses considered, and the stage itself studied in detail.
Art Club

The Art Club brings together those girls on campus who are interested and talented in art. Membership is acquired by girls of a certain scholastic standing after a successful try-out.

In February the club conducted chapel exercises, presenting an interesting moving picture on the art of tapestry-making. Besides, the members of the Art Club made the decorations for the Blue-Stone Cotillion Mid-Winter Dance in February.
The Aeolian Club has very definite and challenging standards of admission. None are considered for membership except those recommended by the music faculty as being proficient in voice, violin, piano, or organ. An entrance examination in some branch of music is required. Further, there is a general scholarship requirement that only those having in all classes an average of $C$ or above shall be received as members.

This year the club entertained the music students at a reception in Alumnae Hall.

The Frances Sale Club is named in honor of Miss Frances Sale, who was the pioneer worker in home economics on this campus. The purpose of the club is to heighten the interest of its members in home economics work and to train them for club leadership. All home economics girls who are interested in the work of the club are invited to join.

The club has sponsored many worthwhile activities on the campus. Two prizes were given to freshmen, one to the freshman having the most attractive dormitory room and the other to the home economics freshman having the highest scholastic average for the quarter. The club also sponsored a shower for the nursery school and gave its annual gift to the practice house. Throughout the year the club supervises the preparation and serving of refreshments at the teas sponsored by the social committee.

The word Sesame, which suggests the desire to gain admission, helps to disclose the purpose of this club. It is the desire of the day students that they be brought into a closer and more intimate contact with the college and its activities.

The members of the club have furnished their room in the basement of Harrison Hall so attractively that it makes comfortable and inviting living quarters for the day students during the time that they are on campus but not in class.

Each month the club has a “guest day.” Faculty members and campus students are invited to be the guests of the day students at lunch, and to spend a social hour with them. Through these “get-togethers,” the gap between boarding students and day students has been bridged, and the college has come to mean more to the day students than class-room activities alone.
Blue-Stone Cotillion Club

On February the third, the Blue-Stone Cotillion Club sponsored a formal dance, the largest in the history of the club. A Valentine theme was effectively carried out in the decorations. The music was furnished by Dan Gregory's orchestra. The club has had various other forms of entertainment. Early in October a party was given for the new girls of the college. During the latter part of the year the sponsors and the members of the club enjoyed a dinner at the Kavanaugh Hotel, followed by a theater party. After each initiation a breakfast was given in honor of the new members.

Literary Societies
Alpha Rho Delta

Alpha Rho Delta was organized in 1931 by a group of Latin majors to fill the need for a classical club on the campus, the one of former years having lapsed. The club has two main objects: to study the life and literature of Ancient Greece and Rome and to help create a fuller understanding of the part which Latin and Greek have in our life and language today.

During the past year the club has been working out a project to test the relationship between Latin studied in the high school and proficiency in English. The regular bi-monthly programs have centered around problems in the management of high school Latin clubs.

Celebrating National Drama Week, Alpha Rho Delta gave a program in chapel February the ninth, discussing Greek drama.

A tea in Alumnae Hall and a banquet in the Senior Dining Hall for the members and faculty advisors have also been sponsored by the club this year.

Founded on October 8, 1909, the Lanier Literary Society took its name from the beloved Southern poet, Sidney Lanier. With his ideals established in the society by its founders, real progress was made possible. These standards are expressed by the motto of the organization.

The society flower was especially dear to this gentle poet. The flute, which the Lanier tyros carry during their initiation, was the instrument upon which he showed himself to be a master-musician. The most prized possession of the society is the table upon which Lanier wrote his Science of English Verse.

Lanier Day, observed on February 2, comprising a chapel program and an afternoon tea, ended with a banquet given in honor of the members of the society. Upon the request of the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the society presented before them a suitable entertainment on the anniversary of Lanier's birth.

This year the programs have dealt largely with modern American poetry. Among the writers who have been studied are Robert Frost, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Sara Teasdale, and Carl Sandburg.

When the Lee Literary Society was organized, the name of General Robert Edward Lee was chosen because of the high ideals for which he stood. The motto of the society, “Wearing the white flower of a blameless life,” seems to embody these high ideals. The white carnation is the symbol of the standards which the society tries at all times to maintain. The colors, gold and Confederate gray, were chosen because of General Lee’s connection with the Confederacy. Gold stands for purity and Confederate gray for service. The sword, which the Lee novices carry during their initiation and which also appears on the seal of the Lees, stands for courage.

In accordance with their annual observance, the Lee Literary Society honored General Robert E. Lee on his birthday, January the nineteenth. Chapel exercises were conducted with the theme, The Spiritual Life of General Robert E. Lee, and a banquet in honor of the members of the society was given.

Outstanding among the social activities of the year were a party, given for all the new girls, and a tea.

The programs for the year were based on a study of the novel and the short story. Dr. Wayland visited the society on one occasion and gave an interesting and instructive talk on various events in the life of General Lee. He brought before the society some pictures and information which were unusual and significant.

Because Thomas Nelson Page had done so much for Virginia and was himself such a noted Virginian, the charter members of the Page Literary Society, in 1921, decided to name the society in his honor. They accepted as their motto, “Thy Country’s, thy God’s, and Truth’s,” which he suggested. The three pearls on the pin are symbolic of this motto. Red and white were chosen as the colors, and the red rose as the flower. The purpose of the society is to arouse interest in literature and to increase appreciation of it through the study of past and contemporary writers and their works.

For the first quarter of this year, the topics studied were based on negro poetry. At one of the meetings, Miss Hoffman gave a very interesting and informing talk. At the other meetings, our recognition of the worth of this form of dialect poetry was raised further by other talks on various negro writers. Throughout the second quarter, the subject of the drama was taken up. The first program presented by the new members consisted of a very amusing short play entitled “Shakespearean Hash.” For the remainder of the quarter, the lives of a number of well-known playwrights were discussed and their works reviewed. In addition, the society sponsored a tea and gave a party for the freshmen and other new girls. During the third quarter, the programs were confined to material on contemporary writers of the South and their achievements. On Page Day, April 23—birthday of both Page and Shakespeare—the society gave a program in chapel, followed by a banquet that night.

Ten years ago, in May, 1924, the Alpha Literary Society was founded with a charter membership of one hundred and sixty. The society has grown until the enrollment in the fall quarter of this year had reached two hundred and twenty-one.

The society is divided into small groups, not exceeding thirty-five members each. This enables more persons to participate in the weekly literary programs, the aim of these programs being to increase appreciation and enjoyment of literature. Each group elects its own group leader, secretary, and program chairman.

Besides the weekly literary meetings this year, the society has enjoyed other activities as well. In December, Alpha members had a Christmas fireside party in Alumnae Hall. Stories were told, poems were read, and carols were sung.

On Alpha Day, in February, the society was responsible for giving a chapel program based upon the life and works of Robert Burns. At the end of this, the entire student body was asked to join in the singing of his Auld Lang Syne. A banquet for Alpha members in Blue-Stone Dining Hall completed Alpha Day.

The society has taken as one of its annual projects the presentation of some suitable gift to the school. It is the desire of the club thus to be of some real service to the college.

The Debating Club, which was founded in 1926, stands for the development and recognition of ability in public speaking and debating.

The intercollegiate debating this year has been on the question. Resolved: That the powers of the President of the United States should be substantially increased as a settled policy. In an encounter with Mary Baldwin College, the affirmative team of Harrisonburg lost by a two-to-one decision. In a debate with East Radford State Teachers' College, another Harrisonburg affirmative team won by a unanimous decision.

In the meetings of the club, many other questions have been debated, such as Resolved: That the United States was justified in its recognition of Russia.

The club has also presented an assembly program emphasizing the value of debating and the merits of its intercollegiate question.

A formal dinner was given in March. The club also held receptions after each debate.
Naturally, the purpose of the French Circle is to foster an interest in whatever pertains to France and, especially, to use its language as much as possible.

This year Le Cercle translated Molière’s Le Médecin malgré Lui and presented it in Wilson Hall on February 21, with the following cast:

Athletics
Athletics play an important part in the student life at Harrisonburg. There are intercollegiate games in two sports, and interclass games in six. The two intercollegiate sports are hockey and basketball; the sports participated in by the classes are hockey, basketball, swimming, tennis, golf, and baseball. Hiking is an organized sport, and is encouraged by group hiking leaders and by the Hiking Club. Games such as soccer, speedball, field-ball, and volleyball are taught in the physical education classes, as well as archery and various types of dancing. Horseback riding, which has only recently become one of the campus activities, is quite popular, and has resulted in the formation of the Riding Club.

There are three cheer leaders—a varsity leader and her two assistants—and the student body forms a well-organized cheering section.

Varsity Hockey

Opening the 1933 hockey season, the Harrisonburg varsity team suffered a 4-0 defeat at the hands of Sweet Briar. At the annual Virginia Hockey Association tournament, held November 9-10 at Westhampton College, Harrisonburg again met defeat, at the hands of Westhampton, 2-0, and tied Farmville State Teachers College 0-0. Although defeated, the team showed fast playing and excellent teamwork.

The (Harrisonburg) second team played two games during the tournament, dropping one to the Richmond Division of William and Mary, 2-0, and winning 4-2 from an et cetera team.

Three H. T. C. girls were named on the all-tournament teams, one on the first, and two on the second team. They were Edith Todd, Richmond, right halfback, first team; Douglas MacDonald, Scott, N. C., left halfback, and Joyce Lea, Massies Mill, center halfback, second team.

On December 2, the annual varsity versus alumnuae game was held. Although the alumnuae scored the first goal, the game was ended with a score of 6-3 in favor of varsity.

Marietta Melson, Machipongo, this year’s captain, is to be succeeded next year by Edith Todd, Richmond.

Varsity Basketball

A very successful basketball season was opened by a game with Shepherds College, Shepherdstown, West Virginia. The game was played on the Harrisonburg court with the H. T. C. team emerging victorious, 63-12.

The second game of the season was a more evenly matched one. Harrisonburg won from East Stroudsburg Teachers College 35-30. On March 2 the team went to New York, where, on March 3, they won 32-23 over the Savage School of Physical Education, and on March 5, they played New College, and won 51-13.

On March 9 we defeated Blackstone, at Harrisonburg, 33-19, and on March 17 we played New College again, this time at Harrisonburg, and defeated them 54-17. Thus the Harrisonburg basketball team won every game they played throughout the season by a decisive margin.

THE OLD GIRL-NEW GIRL GAME

An unusual affair of great interest, the Old Girl-New Girl basketball game was played Friday night, October 13, in the "Big Gym." Although the 40-23 score was in favor of the Old Girls, the New Girls did not give up without a struggle, and show excellent spirit and teamwork.

The line-up for the game was:

Old Girls New Girls
Pittman Forward Barrow
MacDonald Forward Homan
Grogan Center Scheibeler
Courter Side Center Mahers
Van Landingham Guard Bailey
Fultz Guard Cannon

An unusual feature of this year's Old Girl-New Girl rivalry was the game played by the second teams. This game drew a crowd almost equal to the one which turned out for the regular game. For the first half, it looked as though the New Girls were set for the winning score, but the varsity seconds outclassed them, and the game ended with varsity victorious, 31-18.

The line-up for this game was:

Old Girls New Girls
Huffman Forward Hobbs
Madjeski Forward Rucker
Burnette Guard Dungan
Waitsall Guard Bales
Clarke Side Center Pendleton
Holder Center Poats
Riding Club

Riding is the newest sport to become a part of campus life. A riding club was organized in January, electing Edith Todd as president, Anne Bond, vice-president, and Fanny LaNeave, secretary-treasurer. Miss Hoffman, owner of the half-a-dozen horses used by the club members, was chosen sponsor. The purpose of the club is to further an interest in better riding, and each member must ride at least twice a month. There are approximately thirty members in the club.
Life-Saving Group

Every year a course in Red Cross life-saving is given to all girls who are interested. This course is conducted by the girls who are Red Cross examiners, and the tests are given by them. Every year, or sometimes every two years, a Red Cross representative from Washington visits the college and gives the course of instruction and the tests to those girls with qualifications to become examiners.
Interclass

EDITH TODD
Hockey Sport Leader

"Toddy" has played varsity hockey two years and class hockey three years, and has served as hockey sport leader of her Freshman Class.

INTERCLASS HOCKEY

The interclass hockey games this year proved the superiority of the Juniors, with the Sophomores in second place. The class sport leaders were Margaret James, Senior; Louise Allred, Junior; Margaret Newcomb, Sophomore; and Charlotte Homan, Freshman.

EMILY PITTMAN
Basketball Sport Leader

"Pitt" has played three years of class basketball and two years of varsity. She was Sophomore Class basketball sport leader last year.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

The Junior Class again proved its superiority when the class basketball games were played, by winning all their games. The Sophomores again step into second place. The class sport leaders were Mary Smith, Senior; Julia Courter, Junior; Marguerite Holder, Sophomore (with Elizabeth Huffman acting as substitute leader); and Harriet Linger, Freshman.
Sports

MARGARET JAMES
Swimming Sport Leader

Margaret is a Senior Red Cross lifesaver, and has been on her class team for four years.

INTERCLASS SWIMMING

The interclass swimming meet, held April 19, consisted of such events as the 20-yard and 40-yard dash, a tandem race, a relay race, back crawl, 20 yards, plunge for distance, an obstacle race, intermediate and advanced diving, and a stunt by each class. The class sport leaders were Margaret James, Senior; Louise Allred, Junior; Nell Williams, Sophomore; and Margaret Shank, Freshman.

ELEANOR STUDEBAKER
Tennis Sport Leader

“Teedie” has played on her class team in her Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior years, and served as Sophomore tennis sport leader.

INTERCLASS TENNIS

The girls interested in interclass tennis try out, and their names are placed in the order of their ability on the tennis ladder. The girls on the ladders play off matches until the best in each class remains, and these girls play off the matches between the classes. This year’s tennis sport leaders were Virginia Dorset, Senior; Ruth Bowman, Junior; Marguerite Holder, Sophomore; and Elizabeth Firebaugh, Freshman.
MIKE BUIE
Golf Sport Leader

Mike has been golf sport leader both years since golf has been an organized sport on campus.

INTERCLASS GOLF

The class teams are chosen and the matches played off at the Spotswood Country Club. Although interclass rivalry in golf is comparatively new at Harrisonburg, it is quite a popular sport. The class golf sport leaders are Lois Bishop, Senior; Mittie Chapman, Junior; Janie Miner, Sophomore; Helen Moore, Freshman.

ALMA FULTZ
Baseball Sport Leader

Alma was baseball sport leader of her Sophomore Class, and played on her class team three years.

INTERCLASS BASEBALL

The interclass baseball games always call out a group of enthusiastic baseball fans, and potential Babe Ruths. The games are usually played after dinner on the hockey field, and are always well attended by the rival classes. The class baseball sport leaders are Mary Smith, Senior; Virginia Barrow, Junior; Helen Madjeski, Sophomore; Helen Detwiler, Freshman.
The Hiking Club

The Hiking Club was organized to promote more interest in hiking and in nature study. The club is usually divided into groups every fall, with old girls acting as leaders. Hikes are taken in the afternoons after classes and on holidays.

Fifty miles of hiking is required of each member before the Christmas holidays. This is made up of two ten-mile hikes and six five-mile hikes. The ten-mile hikes are taken to Dayton, Massanetta Springs, and sometimes out on the Rawley Springs road. The five-mile hikes are taken out on side roads around Harrisonburg, up the Valley Pike, and to the "Frog Pond."

THE IMPRINT of PRIDE

Bids for patronage on a basis of price alone get small response from people who know the true worth of good quality in PRINTING. They prefer to pay the slight difference in the cost of good printing over mediocre printing because of the vastly superior Results obtained—and Results, of course, are paramount.

BELL MADE ANNUALS are produced by skilled craftsmen to meet the most exacting requirements. But, measured by the standards of real service and satisfaction, they are, after all, the least expensive.
