1968 BLUESTONE

MADISON COLLEGE

Harrisonburg, Virginia
Life, like a dome of many-coloured glass,
Stains the white radiance of eternity

Percy Bysshe Shelley
Adonais XLVI

College life, like a window of lustrous panes, forms the pattern of a destiny.

Jane Ellen Carden
Bluestone LX
Rays of sunlight pass through the panes of a stained glass window and reflect the colors on everything they touch. Your values, judgements and goals pass through college life and are dyed in shades of experience and learning. These freshly illumined attitudes reflect on decisions of the future.
Colored panes of a window are the masterwork of an artist. They never fade or scar and never lose the aesthetic value of their inception. There will always be memories for you of Madison College; of Harrisonburg, Virginia; of college life.
The thoughts may fade and deteriorate as years pass on, but the stain which that span of life leaves on your eternity may never be erased.
Four years of living in the college community are framed by the seasons which disguise the familiar surroundings in a rainbow of evolving garb and you are more aware of the seasons as you are of everything by your heightened sensitivity in the immediacy of learning. You feel the warm laziness of summer and the hot mugginess of spring rain.
You are part of the bursting beauty of autumn . . .
as the encompassing mountains are transformed from fiery brilliance into the more subdued bareness of winter.
You feel the bite of winter’s icy wind and the light stroke of falling snow. In childish romps you delight in its touch, in more serious moods you contemplate its stillness. As seasons create an environment, they are the background stains which are to be tinged with experience.
The decision to pursue a major field of study initiates a value scale of experiences represented by all of the tints and shades of red. Isolated red marks your concentrated interest; pink provides incidental balance.
What will you be?
Doctor . . . lawyer . . .
Indian chief?
Memories fade, but a profession stains your eternity.
Involvement brightens the blue of your horizon. Activities build your mind, your body, your character, simultaneously. Calvin Coolidge said, "All growth depends on activity."
A single spark of ambition may grow and glow into a beam that shines ultrablue. From the blue of the horizon to the ultrablue of eternity, involvement extends.
Purple and gold signify accomplishment. They are the deep colors which will not fade even when the thoughts behind them grow dim. The purple and gold are the completed combinations of all momentary and lasting accomplishments. No matter how great or how small each of your achievements, each is added to the pattern of your destiny.
Study disciplines your mind for the future as it sparks interest in the present.
The green in eternity is the green of friendship that grows from a pale tint to the brilliance of emerald. A friend is someone who likes you, someone who smiles at you . . .
someone who teaches you . . .
someone who is a big sister, someone who lives with you . . .
someone who loves you.
Personalities are multicolored because ...
each is significantly different.
College provides the opportunity for meeting people. They share their talents and capture your interest. For a fleeting moment or for a lifetime, you are a part of them and they, of you.
You may consider each section of the pattern of college experience separately, but the final effect is integral. You are a whole person with a specifically directed purpose. During your years at Madison, college life stains the white radiance of your eternity. A dome of many-colored glass casts an image on your future.
Dr. and Mrs. Daniel M. McFarland
DEDICATION

To keep the way warm in memory; to aid another passing by; it is good to leave something well-remembered and loved behind —

With us, four years with two people who have given of themselves, to make us what we want to be because of what they are —

A lending of time, effort, respect, laughter, guidance; yet more —

A time of growth; of banner raids and a junior circus, of a candlelight march and a morning class, of patience and of time, of being a part of the Class of 1968.

Now we as seniors leave the love and respect given to us, as we dedicate the 1968 Bluestone to Dr. and Mrs. Daniel M. McFarland.

Mrs. McFarland ponders a question being discussed at the tea for faculty wives.

Dr. McFarland tips his hat to a forgotten hero, Herbert Hoover.

WINTER'S MASK
Announced by all the trumpets of the sky,
Arrives the snow, and, driving o'er the fields,
Seems nowhere to alight: the whited air
Hides hills and woods, the river, and the heaven, . . .
Come see the north wind's masonry.
Out of an unseen quarry evermore
Furnished with tile, the fierce artificer
Curves his white bastions with projected roof
Round every windward stake, or tree, or door.
Speeding, the myriad-handed, his wild work
So fanciful, so savage, nought cares he
For number of proportion . . .
And when his hours are numbered, and the world
Is all his own, retiring, as he were not,
Leaves, when the sun appears, astonished Art
To mimic in slow structures, stone by stone,
Built in an age, the mad wind's nightwork,
The frolic architecture of the snow.

I want to go home . . . but it's twenty miles to Staunton!
I can’t believe they actually had enough nerve to have a scene about City Park!
The rigors of registration caused many students to seek the help of an able advisor...
... while others attempted to untangle their problems alone.
You mean to tell me that freshman thought she had enough room for all that?
When we couldn't get our hands on the Freshman banner, we settled for second best.
