POWER TO THE PEOPLE
Environment May Eclipse Vietnam as College Issue

By GLADWIN HILL
Special to The New York Times

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29— "We want to stop the war, end pollution—and beat Stanford!" yelled a Berkeley pep leader at last weekend's big football rally.

The mention of pollution brought a roar of approval from a University of California crowd of 5,000 that almost drowned out the reference to the big game.

Rising concern about the "environmental crisis" is sweeping the nation's campuses with an intensity that may be on its way to eclipsing student discontent over the war in Vietnam.

This is indicated by interviews with students in many parts of the country. "There is a new mood going on here, that the war will be liquidated, even due to Vietnam," Dr. Edward Clebsch, assistant professor of botany at the University of Tennessee, said. "I've been floored by the intensity of their actions and feelings," said Dr. Vincent Arp, a Bureau of Standards physicist close to the University of Colorado at Boulder. "The student group is going like a bomb."

A national day of action against environmental problems, analogous to the mass demonstrations on Vietnam, is being planned for next spring, with Congressional backing.

From Maine to Hawaii, students are seizing on the environmental ills from water pollution to the global population problem, campaigning against them, and pitching in to do something about them.

"A ground swell of concern is starting, on everything from population and food supply to the preservation of natural areas," commented Dr. Edward Clebsch, assistant professor of botany at the University of Tennessee.

"I've been floored by the intensity of their actions and feelings," said Dr. Vincent Arp, a Bureau of Standards physicist close to the University of Colorado at Boulder. "The student group is going like a bomb."

University of Minnesota students conduct a mock funeral for the gasoline engine in a protest against air pollution. Concern for "environmental crisis" is sweeping campuses.

Letters relating to current problems, relevant issues, or simply reasonable comments and suggestions pertaining to SGA's role in campus life should be addressed to the chairman of the committee involved with the issue at hand. A list of the S.C.A. committee members is printed in this issue of TELL-IT for easy reference. If, however, there is doubt as to which committee is most directly involved with a particular issue, letters may be addressed to SGA Communications Committee, P.O. 1423. Letters will be immediately forwarded to the proper committee.

Recently, several concerned students held a meeting to discuss the Madison Student Handbook. SGA, having heard about it "through the grapevine," decided to represent itself by making good this opportunity to bear expressed-FIRST HAND-students legitimate (and natt to legitimate) gripes about this important element of the college community.

Beth Ray, chairman of SGA's Rules Review Committee (the function of which is to review rules as)

The following is a list of rule changes to appear in the 1971-72 Student Handbook as proposed by SGA Rules Review Committee (chairman Beth Ray, Horace Norlidge). The proposed changes will be voted on by a joint (Legislative and Judicial) session of SGA Nov. 18. Your comments concerning these changes are important in order for your representatives to know how to vote. Send your comments to your representatives. They are listed the 1970-71 Student Handbook on the last page.

many a man who was tall and strong as kneeled to pray for many a wrong no man is so humble as not to cry for those who don't, inside they die.

class of '72 . . .
a class with ambition

class of '72 . . . a class with high ambitions, high hopes . . . prepared for possible failure and defeat in life's maze of challenges and problems . . . "with it" in all modes of living: dress, music, ideas and ideals, knowledge of the world . . . especially alive to people and perspectives . . . hoping always for the best solution while striving in this direction . . . egypt and israel . . . vietnam . . . abortion . . . mini, midi, maxi? . . . ecology . . . drugs . . . hard rock, bubble gum, jazz . . . elections . . . all of these concern the junior class . . . a close focus on the madison campus involves the students, too . . . a new college president . . . student union . . . fixer . . . construction of physical education facilities . . . challenging new teachers and equally demanding courses . . . class rings . . . members of the class of '72 criticize, read about, and hope to change today's world . . . this examination involves introspection, too . . . a deeper look into the character and working of each mind, each one scrutinizes the world and himself, trying to improve and up-date both.
Juniors waiting to enter ring dance.

Freshmen encounter both the serious and fun-loving life of Madison.
one of Madison's many...

the joy of basic studies...
there's no telling where you will find a madison student . . .

that's good, that's really good!

Carrier Named New President

Tennessean Succeeds
Dr. G. Tyler Mill

Dr. Ronald E. Carrier of Memphis State University has been named president of Madison College effective January 1.

Dr. Carrier, the university's vice president for academic affairs, will succeed Dr. G. Tyler Miller, president since 1949. He announced his retirement last April to be effective August 31, or when a successor was chosen, but no later than June 30 of next year.

In making the announcement of the new president, Russell M. Weaver, rector of the college's board of visitors and Harrisonburg, Virginia said, "Dr. Carrier, an experienced administrator with a fine educational background and understanding of the responsibilities of collegiate leadership and administration, will enable us to gain new experiences that the presidency offers. Madison College is a usually fine educational institution and the faculty, and community leaders, whom I have been in contact with, have been impressed with their integrity and their interest in campus and its students.

Dr. Carrier is obviously a leader in college and will enable the college to continue in the traditional manner."

Dr. Carrier, 38, joined Memphis State University in 1963 as director of bureau of business and economics, which he founded and became the university's provost in 1966 and was elected as the university's academic vice president in the latter role. He also served as the university's academic vice president in the latter role. He also served as the university's academic vice president in the latter role.

If you're not part of the solution, then you're part of the problem.
being with you

is opening my eyes
to see how you look
when you kiss me.

it is holding hands
and my being so happy
that i squeeze your hand and my happiness is felt by you
so you squeeze back

it is watching you in turmoil after you've lost something important, but you do not show
how upset you really are,
so you hold my knee.
and i ruffle your hair.
while i sit concentrating on giving all my strength
to help you,
you notice how quiet i am,
and you ask me—
"are you angry?"
and i almost cry because i know what little strength i had
you have accepted,
although you didn't know it.

it is strobe lights and music,
vo and coke and beer,
gum,
jade east and intimate,
an open shirt and a bare chest.
silence,
a whisper,
a tickle,
a smile,
a kiss,
a touch.

it is your asking me
if i know where
the gaza strip is,
and my answering
of course, it's in japan.

it is looking down at the ocean
from high atop a mountain of coral, and watching sea gulls soaring and dipping into the water for fish and wondering—
how nice it would be to do the same.
but then feeling a movement beside me and wanting much more
to remain
just where i am.

being with you

is seeing the sun,
the stars,
night and day
for the first time.

it is feeling you are a part of the wind—
so free and uncontrollable.
the rain—
cool, refreshing,
but soon gone without a trace.
it is like an ocean wave crashing against the reef—alive and vibrant,
like the bursting sunrises
in the east—
beautiful, warming, necessary.

being with you

is counting the days
that slip by so easily and fast lasting long enough only for me to think of you and realize that my departure is one day nearer.
before the days seemed
almost unmovable,
as though they were
held by a chain.
now the links are around me.
there is nothing i can do because they are wrapped too tightly.

it hurts.
the chain now pulls away
instead of holding stationary.
how i wish that for a moment
i could be a link
because i would be a weak one.
and break the chain.
and laugh!
but instead i will go.
