The Breeze

Volume 94, No. 29
Thursday, January 21, 2016
breezejmu.org

City backs snow plows

Harrisonburg is bracing for what the weather may bring. With the forecast of Winter Storm Jonas set to hit much of the East Coast this weekend, JMU and Harrisonburg are in the process of finishing plans on what the winter weather may bring.

JMU is also gearing up for the coming storm. "Winter planning is something that happens throughout the shop," Elliot Downs, owner of Wonder Records, said. "It took 10 minutes to reach the spot where the accident occurred."

On his way up the mountain, the first thought that went through his mind was, "I hope I'm not the first medic on the scene." The first medic on the scene was deBrun, assistant EMT, this was his first fatality in a serious scenario, he said. "Even though the individual wasn't a first responder, it's hard to believe," deBrun said. "I grew up always listening to records; I've always wanted my own record store."

That dream came true in 2011 when Wonder Skate, a Harrisonburg skateboard shop owned by Jesse Hammer, allowed Downs to sell his records in a portion of the shop, which became known as Wonder Records. Although LP records and skateboards aren't usually associated together, Downs believes that, from a financial standpoint, the merge made a lot of sense for both parties. "It was a small enough town that it kind of had to have a record store," said Downs. "It made sense to merge like-minded businesses and, although we're the only one, the overlap in our customers makes it a viable option for both shops."

"We love it," deBrun said. "Even though the individuals right there in front of us, we just keep saying, 'oh, that couldn't happen.'"

Some things don't always go as planned. This was the case for JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston. Some things don't always go as planned.

"Mike brings more head coaching experience to JMU and Houston are in the process of finishing a first impression."

The first time one, someone did during the Shenandoah Mountains' Winter Storm Jonas hit a 100 pounding right in the Garden's Washington National Forest. Ross Hansen, 54, struck a tree and fell down a steep embankment. The first medic on the scene was Dr. Hansen, assistant director of emergency programs and a wilderness medic.

"Missed more head coaching experience to JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston."

The first medics on the scene were deBrun, assistant EMT, this was his first fatality in a serious scenario, he said. "Even though the individual wasn't a first responder, it's hard to believe," deBrun said. "I grew up always listening to records; I've always wanted my own record store."

That dream came true in 2011 when Wonder Skate, a Harrisonburg skateboard shop owned by Jesse Hammer, allowed Downs to sell his records in a portion of the shop, which became known as Wonder Records. Although LP records and skateboards aren't usually associated together, Downs believes that, from a financial standpoint, the merge made a lot of sense for both parties. "It was a small enough town that it kind of had to have a record store," said Downs. "It made sense to merge like-minded businesses and, although we're the only one, the overlap in our customers makes it a viable option for both shops."

"We love it," deBrun said. "Even though the individuals right there in front of us, we just keep saying, 'oh, that couldn't happen.'"

Some things don't always go as planned. This was the case for JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston. Some things don't always go as planned.

"Mike brings more head coaching experience to JMU and Houston are in the process of finishing a first impression."

The first time one, someone did during the Shenandoah Mountains' Winter Storm Jonas hit a 100 pounding right in the Garden's Washington National Forest. Ross Hansen, 54, struck a tree and fell down a steep embankment. The first medic on the scene was Dr. Hansen, assistant director of emergency programs and a wilderness medic.

"Missed more head coaching experience to JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston."

The first medics on the scene were deBrun, assistant EMT, this was his first fatality in a serious scenario, he said. "Even though the individual wasn't a first responder, it's hard to believe," deBrun said. "I grew up always listening to records; I've always wanted my own record store."

That dream came true in 2011 when Wonder Skate, a Harrisonburg skateboard shop owned by Jesse Hammer, allowed Downs to sell his records in a portion of the shop, which became known as Wonder Records. Although LP records and skateboards aren't usually associated together, Downs believes that, from a financial standpoint, the merge made a lot of sense for both parties. "It was a small enough town that it kind of had to have a record store," said Downs. "It made sense to merge like-minded businesses and, although we're the only one, the overlap in our customers makes it a viable option for both shops."

"We love it," deBrun said. "Even though the individuals right there in front of us, we just keep saying, 'oh, that couldn't happen.'"

Some things don't always go as planned. This was the case for JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston. Some things don't always go as planned.

"Mike brings more head coaching experience to JMU and Houston are in the process of finishing a first impression."

The first time one, someone did during the Shenandoah Mountains' Winter Storm Jonas hit a 100 pounding right in the Garden's Washington National Forest. Ross Hansen, 54, struck a tree and fell down a steep embankment. The first medic on the scene was Dr. Hansen, assistant director of emergency programs and a wilderness medic.

"Missed more head coaching experience to JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston."

The first medics on the scene were deBrun, assistant EMT, this was his first fatality in a serious scenario, he said. "Even though the individual wasn't a first responder, it's hard to believe," deBrun said. "I grew up always listening to records; I've always wanted my own record store."

That dream came true in 2011 when Wonder Skate, a Harrisonburg skateboard shop owned by Jesse Hammer, allowed Downs to sell his records in a portion of the shop, which became known as Wonder Records. Although LP records and skateboards aren't usually associated together, Downs believes that, from a financial standpoint, the merge made a lot of sense for both parties. "It was a small enough town that it kind of had to have a record store," said Downs. "It made sense to merge like-minded businesses and, although we're the only one, the overlap in our customers makes it a viable option for both shops."

"We love it," deBrun said. "Even though the individuals right there in front of us, we just keep saying, 'oh, that couldn't happen.'"

Some things don't always go as planned. This was the case for JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston. Some things don't always go as planned.

"Mike brings more head coaching experience to JMU and Houston are in the process of finishing a first impression."

The first time one, someone did during the Shenandoah Mountains' Winter Storm Jonas hit a 100 pounding right in the Garden's Washington National Forest. Ross Hansen, 54, struck a tree and fell down a steep embankment. The first medic on the scene was Dr. Hansen, assistant director of emergency programs and a wilderness medic.

"Missed more head coaching experience to JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston."

The first medics on the scene were deBrun, assistant EMT, this was his first fatality in a serious scenario, he said. "Even though the individual wasn't a first responder, it's hard to believe," deBrun said. "I grew up always listening to records; I've always wanted my own record store."

That dream came true in 2011 when Wonder Skate, a Harrisonburg skateboard shop owned by Jesse Hammer, allowed Downs to sell his records in a portion of the shop, which became known as Wonder Records. Although LP records and skateboards aren't usually associated together, Downs believes that, from a financial standpoint, the merge made a lot of sense for both parties. "It was a small enough town that it kind of had to have a record store," said Downs. "It made sense to merge like-minded businesses and, although we're the only one, the overlap in our customers makes it a viable option for both shops."

"We love it," deBrun said. "Even though the individuals right there in front of us, we just keep saying, 'oh, that couldn't happen.'"

Some things don't always go as planned. This was the case for JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston. Some things don't always go as planned.

"Mike brings more head coaching experience to JMU and Houston are in the process of finishing a first impression."

The first time one, someone did during the Shenandoah Mountains' Winter Storm Jonas hit a 100 pounding right in the Garden's Washington National Forest. Ross Hansen, 54, struck a tree and fell down a steep embankment. The first medic on the scene was Dr. Hansen, assistant director of emergency programs and a wilderness medic.

"Missed more head coaching experience to JMU and newly hired head football coach Mike Houston."

The first medics on the scene were deBrun, assistant EMT, this was his first fatality in a serious scenario, he said. "Even though the individual wasn't a first responder, it's hard to believe," deBrun said. "I grew up always listening to records; I've always wanted my own record store."

That dream came true in 2011 when Wonder Skate, a Harrisonburg skateboard shop owned by Jesse Hammer, allowed Downs to sell his records in a portion of the shop, which became known as Wonder Records. Although LP records and skateboards aren't usually associated together, Downs believes that, from a financial standpoint, the merge made a lot of sense for both parties. "It was a small enough town that it kind of had to have a record store," said Downs. "It made sense to merge like-minded businesses and, although we're the only one, the overlap in our customers makes it a viable option for both shops."

"We love it," deBrun said. "Even though the individuals right there in front of us, we just keep saying, 'oh, that couldn't happen.'"
The second week of class struggle

How are classes?

Already dropped one lol that elective was harder than I thought

BRETT ANAND / THE BREEZE

Across
1. Choose later side art work
2. Sinclair Lewis novels arrangements
3. Improved
4. Lab crop discovery
5. Tool with teeth
6. Lead chemistry corrosion
7. "No-proper alternative" (1967-1986)
7. Help for a breakthrough
22. Alliance in a census
32. Vanity Fair candidate
34. Wing marker
35. List item
36. MRI reader
37. Photographer Brown
39. Admission for a "no show" entry (1990-1995)
40. Dance)
41. Bandy moves
42. All the "Curse and Ruse" pieces (1933-1960)
43. Branch of snail
44. "No real damage"
45. George Elliot or George Sand
46. Index monitor
50. The end of each answer to a short story is a former one
51. Border guard at a border
55. Broker with a motor
59. Start one of these
73. Luncheon figure
79. Snips
80. "Ad Lib"...
83. "I'm off the menu"
89. "I want my life and do my art" after
90. Participation Award
91. One
92. "Yes one"
93. "I am the golden one"
94. "Yes one"
95. Fast
96. "I am a real person"
97. "I am a real person"
98. "I am a real person"
99. "I am a real person"
100. "I am a real person"
101. "I am a real person"
102. "I am a real person"
103. "I am a real person"
104. "I am a real person"
105. "I am a real person"
106. "I am a real person"
107. "I am a real person"
108. "I am a real person"
109. "I am a real person"
110. "I am a real person"
111. "I am a real person"
112. "I am a real person"
113. "I am a real person"
114. "I am a real person"
115. "I am a real person"
116. "I am a real person"
117. "I am a real person"
118. "I am a real person"
119. "I am a real person"
120. "I am a real person"

Find the answers online at: breezejmu.org/sites/crossword_answers

Los Angeles Times Daily Crossword Puzzle
Edited by Rich Hanes and Joyce Lowry
Thursday, January 21, 2016

Thursday, Jan. 21
• Ask a Nurse P-Center library 2-4 p.m.
• Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration Week and Speak Out at JMU. Martin Luther King Jr. Library Lecture from 2-3 p.m.
• West Bank Come with Urban Life 111 Domestic Hall Stage, 11:45 p.m.

Friday, Jan. 22
• Global Connections: Heritage Festival 2-5 p.m.
• Alcoholics Anonymous @ Bluestone 11-12, 5-6 p.m.
• Saturday Night Live @ The Artful Dodger 8, 9 p.m. and encore, 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Tuesday, Jan. 26
• Resume Writing Workshop @ Student Success Center Room 3270, 3 p.m.
• Taste of Study Abroad @ Prism 6:30-8 p.m.
• Trump Tours: Germany, 660-8 p.m.

Wednesday, Jan. 27
• LinkedIn Hands On Marketing of Socialized Success Career Room 3227, 2-3 p.m.
• Saucony Fuel 5K @ Bluestone 9-11 a.m. or 1-3 p.m.
• Scott Hall Brunch/Bagel @ The Artful Dodger, 10 a.m. or 2 p.m.

Serving James Madison University Since 1922
Inside the Alternative Fuels Vehicle lab on South Main Street, students and professors are working to create a biofuel source for the University. "Many institutions are trying to come up with alternative energy in order to make it more cost-effective," The Source's [1] contributing writer Zachary Harris said. "I think it is going to be difficult for roads to be kept clear."

Kevin and the other employees are done working, they’re not going to drive home. The managers of the dining halls make a living for them this weekend. The equipment and roads aren’t the only resources that JMU has to take care of during the snowstorms. People like Donna Erb, a maintenance worker who works for Aramark at D-Hall, are also expected to be at their places of work, and stay late.

"The dedication of these workers is something that JMU is proud of," Wyatt said. "A lot of these folks are on campus for 24, 36 or 48 hours."

"For the people who work for the university, they have to be ready to clear the 29 miles of sidewalk, six miles of road, seven parking lots and sidewalks," Wyatt said. "They also have to clear the roads of snow and ice in order to make sure that there are no accidents."

"Keep in mind, the roads aren’t the only thing that needs to be cleared," Wyatt said. "The snow must be removed from parking lots, due to the need for preserving available parking spaces on campus."

"The equipment and roads aren’t the only resources that JMU has to take care of during the snowstorms," Wyatt said. "The equipment and roads aren’t the only resources that JMU has to take care of during the snowstorms."
Science, said, “What is perhaps the most ironic thing about the entire situation is that fossil fuels are used in the construction of alternative energy sources. For example, the vehicles used in construction require oil and gasoline.

Despite the expensive nature of construction, the students learn about the field of construction management through hands-on work. “We try to have the students cut by 30% in the classroom.” According to Sharp, the increased use of software in the classroom has allowed students to use computers to cut down on the amount of time required to complete a project.

Since algae is a photosynthetic carbon dioxide, the CO2 reduction is considerable. The photosynthetic carbon dioxide process takes place in a semi-autonomous manner. “We made significant progress in our understanding of the algae process,” said Sharp. “It’s important to note that algae can be used to create energy and it additionally can be a tool to reduce CO2 levels.”

The team currently has 10 members and is made up of five students and five faculty members. The team is currently working on a project to grow algae in a closed system and use it to remove carbon dioxide from the air. "It really pushes my thinking to do this," said Sharp. "It's amazing to think about what we can achieve with algae."

In addition to the algae project, the team is also working on a project to develop a biohacking class. The biohacking class will teach students about biotechnology and how to use it to solve real-world problems. "The biohacking class is a great opportunity for students to learn about the latest technologies and to apply them to real-world problems," said Sharp. Contact: Kendrick Sharp at kr3i@jmu.edu.
Making a murderer, or an uneducated opinion?

Netflix original series sheds light on flaws in our justice system

If you own a smartphone, laptop or TV, it's likely that you've heard people talking about the Netflix show "Making a Murderer." If you haven't, the show is based on the true story of Steven Avery, a man who spent 18 years in prison for a sexual assault that he didn't commit. When you learn that the man charged with the murder of another woman has been sentenced to life in prison, the claims about how the convictions were handled, which many think was wrongfully, the extreme amount of controversy has blown up over this case. Let me begin by mentioning that I haven't yet watched the show. Since so many people are talking about it, I think it's time to find out what's all the fuss about. However, I can say that Netflix is an education, and as an educational show, I think it's just what the doctor ordered! (It's just Netflix, people.)

Love makes the world go round, right? Right. But podcasts and TV shows can also make us question the world and our place in it. This TV show. This is the show that everyone is talking about. It's hard to escape the controversy that has surrounded the show. The controversy has been so overwhelming that it has even led to a petition being created. The show has also caused this much national attention. It's unbelievable that a TV show has caused this much national attention.

Making a murderer, or a murder? It's just Netflix. People.

From the team you almost beat, but really know you could have. From a student who has better things to do. From an alumnus who'd rather hear about the snowstorm coming this weekend. An organization on campus for being a "Messiah" in the world. All are so grateful. I'm so glad I go to a school with such great people. I'm so thankful for the opportunities and adventures that we have had. It's important to keep our biases in mind, and to be open to different viewpoints.

As critical as it may seem, I think that we should consider Netflix as an educational tool. It's important to know the issues that "Making a Murderer" brought to the forefront of our awareness and is not just a quick fad. It's important to keep the issues that "Making a Murderer" brought to our attention.

Netflix Aboutaul: I respect the re

Pechy for your thoughts

People shouldn't be taking the Netflix show so seriously

Over 450,000 people signed a petition on Change.org to save Steven Avery and Brendan Dassey, arapo's nephew who was convicted of murdering the woman. Almost 120,000 people signed a separate petition on Change.org to see the show. Even though they didn't contain a reasonable fear of a new trial, the petition to save the men was signed by thousands of people who felt that the show was manipulating a true story.

Avery was later charged with the murder of Teresa Halbach, a woman he had dated. He was later found guilty of murder. The show outlined how the murders were handled, which many think was wrongfully. The extreme amount of controversy has blown up over this case.

The prosecutor in the case has pointed out that the show withheld critical information that had the potential to change the outcome of the trial. The show's depiction of events did not accurately represent what happened in the case.

Netflix has been criticized for using a police officer's salty language. The episodes and unedited moments are also criticized. The show is not fair and balanced. It fuels the fire of controversy.

"Making a Murderer" is as much a smart tv show as it is a smart podcast. If you've not watched the show, you really should watch it. It tells the story of Steven Avery, the man who spent 18 years in prison for a sexual assault that he didn't commit. The show outlines how the convictions were handled, which many think was wrongfully. The extreme amount of controversy has blown up over this case. Let me begin by mentioning that I haven't yet watched the show. Since so many people are talking about it, I think it's time to find out what's all the fuss about. However, I can say that Netflix is an education, and as an educational show, I think it's just what the doctor ordered! (It's just Netflix, people.)

"Making a Murderer" is as much a smart tv show as it is a smart podcast. If you've not watched the show, you really should watch it. It tells the story of Steven Avery, the man who spent 18 years in prison for a sexual assault that he didn't commit. The show outlines how the convictions were handled, which many think was wrongfully. The extreme amount of controversy has blown up over this case. Let me begin by mentioning that I haven't yet watched the show. Since so many people are talking about it, I think it's time to find out what's all the fuss about. However, I can say that Netflix is an education, and as an educational show, I think it's just what the doctor ordered! (It's just Netflix, people.)

"Making a Murderer" is as much a smart tv show as it is a smart podcast. If you've not watched the show, you really should watch it. It tells the story of Steven Avery, the man who spent 18 years in prison for a sexual assault that he didn't commit. The show outlines how the convictions were handled, which many think was wrongfully. The extreme amount of controversy has blown up over this case. Let me begin by mentioning that I haven't yet watched the show. Since so many people are talking about it, I think it's time to find out what's all the fuss about. However, I can say that Netflix is an education, and as an educational show, I think it's just what the doctor ordered! (It's just Netflix, people.)
Have you ever wondered what it would be like to live the life of a hipster? What if you don't have to go to college? What if you can have your music, your clothes, your hair style and more? Discover the world that hipsters live in.

A hipster's life is more than just a way of living; it's a lifestyle.

But in reality, it's not as glamorous as it seems. Hipsters have to deal with the same issues as everyone else, such as finding a job, paying bills, and managing personal relationships.

The key to a hipster's lifestyle is simplicity. They focus on the essentials, such as food, clothing, and transportation, and try to avoid unnecessary expenses.

In conclusion, being a hipster is not easy, but it can be a rewarding experience if you're willing to put in the effort. So why not give it a try and see if it's the lifestyle for you?
and so what we do is, we develop movable sculptures and then we add broad superstring or the characters are going to be and what they're going to be made from, how they'll be built en route from another.

Mixed-Up Chameleon” … So far we've adapted seven of Eric’s upcoming performance.

Jim Morrow, the Mermaid Theatre’s artistic director, offered some insight on the Hungry Caterpillar,” in Forbes’ Mainstage Theatre this Sunday at 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. and will be performing an adaptation of three Eric Carle stories, including “The Very Hungry Caterpillar.

The way this works is we offer shows to theaters and they interested make arrangements with us and this happens about a year in advance of the tour because the tour is between four pounds. Each are required texts for the average JMU business major.

The heaviest textbooks weighed were “Intermediate Accounting” at 4.7 pounds and the 15-inch HP Pavilion weighs 6.9 pounds.

The more fit you are, the more weight you can bear.

Kevin Kolb, a junior from Princeton, New Jersey, does pilates every Tuesday and Thursday.

How heavy do backpacks get at JMU?

When I say puppets, it starts with looking at the books and trying how to figure out what's in these backpacks?

Lenses said, a professor of puppetry at JMU, and her own, narrow, shoulders, hips, and legs should all form a consistent line and keeping the back straight and not allowing the weight of a person to be transferred to the neck or the head, something that’s clearly visible in the middle part of our body's taking the brain and supporting all of this motion that we do all day and day out, so we need to work right.

Lenses suggests taking out a single shoulder or binder to carry.

I’ll never buy a rolling backpack. It’s not a status.

Lenses’ said, a professor of puppetry at JMU, and her own, narrow, shoulders, hips, and legs should all form a consistent line and keeping the back straight and not allowing the weight of a person to be transferred to the neck or the head, something that’s clearly visible in the middle part of our body's taking the brain and supporting all of this motion that we do all day and day out, so we need to work right.

Lenses suggests taking out a single shoulder or binder to carry.

I’ll never buy a rolling backpack. It’s not a status.

Lenses’ said, a professor of puppetry at JMU, and her own, narrow, shoulders, hips, and legs should all form a consistent line and keeping the back straight and not allowing the weight of a person to be transferred to the neck or the head, something that’s clearly visible in the middle part of our body's taking the brain and supporting all of this motion that we do all day and day out, so we need to work right.

Lenses suggests taking out a single shoulder or binder to carry.

I’ll never buy a rolling backpack. It’s not a status.

Lenses’ said, a professor of puppetry at JMU, and her own, narrow, shoulders, hips, and legs should all form a consistent line and keeping the back straight and not allowing the weight of a person to be transferred to the neck or the head, something that’s clearly visible in the middle part of our body's taking the brain and supporting all of this motion that we do all day and day out, so we need to work right.

Lenses suggests taking out a single shoulder or binder to carry.

I’ll never buy a rolling backpack. It’s not a status.

Lenses’ said, a professor of puppetry at JMU, and her own, narrow, shoulders, hips, and legs should all form a consistent line and keeping the back straight and not allowing the weight of a person to be transferred to the neck or the head, something that’s clearly visible in the middle part of our body's taking the brain and supporting all of this motion that we do all day and day out, so we need to work right.

Lenses suggests taking out a single shoulder or binder to carry.

I’ll never buy a rolling backpack. It’s not a status.
The experience begins when you walk in the store

---

Wonder Records

The storefront of Wonder Records, a downtown music shop that shares a space with a local skate shop. Vintage amps are also available at the store. Wonder Records has sections of guitars for sale. LEFT

Guitars

---

Elliot Downs

Owner of Wonder Records: "My father always immersed me in records and the music." Owner of Wonder Records

---

Contact: Sammy Criscitello at criscisj@dukes.jmu.edu.

---

REDEFINE SOCIAL.

- Resort Style Pool
- Basketball Courts
- Volleyball Courts
- Fully Furnished Study Lounge with free wi-fi
- 24 Hour Clubhouse
- 24 Hour Fitness Center
- Complementary Tanning
- Pet Friendly
- Coffee Bar

---

Contact: 540-432-1001

---

Study Abroad Week

Jan 25 to Jan 30

- Mon 1/25
  - Study Abroad & Financial Aid 3:30 - 5:00 pm
  - SLC 520C

- Tue 1/26
  - Cookies & Coffee with Study Abroad 3:30 - 4:30 pm
  - JMU Office

- Wed 1/27
  - Taste of Study Abroad 5:30 - 8:00 pm
  - Prior Oakley

- Thu 1/28
  - Cookies & Coffee with Study Abroad 2:00 - 5:00 pm
  - JMU Office

- Fri 1/29
  - Study Abroad Resume Workshop 3:30 - 5:00 pm
  - SLC 4049

---

Lessons from Abroad Conference 3:30 - 5:00 pm

---

Contact: Savy Criscitello at criscisj@dukes.jmu.edu.

---

Kelsey Harding / The Breeze

---

JAMES ALLEN / The Breeze
By Bennett Conlin

F

he world of college basketball recruiting is getting more and more favorable for the Blue-Ridge High School senior. Some of the top high schools in the nation are recruiting outside their state for the first time. With this new approach, Kent has been able to turn on some of the recruiting offers he has received.

The senior running back said that he has been offered to several Division I schools but has not made a decision yet. He also said that he is still hoping to get more offers from other schools.

“I’m pretty confident in my future,” he said. “I know that I will be playing football at the next level, but I’m not sure where yet.”

When asked about what he would do if he did not play football, he said, “I love playing football, but I also enjoy being around my family and friends.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”

Kent also talked about his performance in the recent recruiting process. He has received several offers, but he said he is still waiting for more.

“I’m not sure if I will make a decision soon, but I am still hoping to get more offers,” he said. “I want to make sure that I am making the right decision.”
AFC Championship: New England Patriots at Denver Broncos, Sunday 3:05 p.m. EST

I think that the Cardinals' defense will do enough to slow down Newton and the Panthers' vertical offense. The Panthers have been able to run the ball somewhat effectively with DeAngelo Williams, but the offensive line has struggled in recent weeks. The Panthers do not have a strong pass rush, so the Patriots' defensive line should be able to get to Newton.

The Carolina Panthers come into this game riding high after beating the two-time defending NFC champions Seattle Seahawks last week, while the Arizona Cardinals survived last week against the Packers.

The Patriots took care of the Kansas City Chiefs 27-20, and their offense looked like its old self for the first time this season. With Tom Brady under center, the offense is playing at a high level and the team is clicking on all cylinders.

The Patriots have a strong defense that is led by a strong pass rush. They have been able to get after the quarterback in recent weeks and have forced turnovers. The defense is also stingy against the run, allowing just 80.8 rushing yards per game.

The Cardinals are in good shape. They have a strong defense led by linebacker Daryl Washington, who has been a force in the middle. The defense has been able to generate a lot of turnovers and has been playing well against the run.

The Cardinals' offense has struggled at times, but they have been able to move the ball and score points when they need to. They have a strong running game led by running back Adrian Peterson, who has been one of the best in the league.

For many of these leaders, this is more than just a job. Last year, former football star Tom DeBrun devised a plan that included the saying "the best way to learn something is to do it." The first part of the plan was to get the students involved in training adventure trip leaders for UREC, a program that trains adventure trip leaders for UREC — students who guide others on mountain bike trails or do a little climbing together.

For deBrun, outdoor adventure is a lifestyle, not a hobby. He runs a mountain bike shop in his home town and spends as much time as he can outdoors. He says that this is a lifestyle that he loves and embraces the lifestyle he loves so much.

His two sons, who are 8 and 3 years old, are slowly learning to embrace the lifestyle he loves so much. When it comes to training adventure trip leaders for UREC, deBrun and his former boss take the lead. They take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip.

When you need support or advice when you're in charge, the students are always going to talk about who is going to make the decision. deBrun said. "As far as they're concerned, it's their program. They want to make the decisions."

The students have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead. They have really actually happened today at the race, and it was a very good day for us as far as retraining process goes."

I think that the Cardinals' defense will do enough to slow down Newton and the Panthers' vertical offense. The Panthers have been able to run the ball somewhat effectively with DeAngelo Williams, but the offensive line has struggled in recent weeks. The Panthers do not have a strong pass rush, so the Patriots' defensive line should be able to get to Newton.

The Carolina Panthers come into this game riding high after beating the two-time defending NFC champions Seattle Seahawks last week, while the Arizona Cardinals survived last week against the Packers.

The Patriots took care of the Kansas City Chiefs 27-20, and their offense looked like its old self for the first time this season. With Tom Brady under center, the offense is playing at a high level and the team is clicking on all cylinders.

The Patriots have a strong defense that is led by a strong pass rush. They have been able to get after the quarterback in recent weeks and have forced turnovers. The defense is also stingy against the run, allowing just 80.8 rushing yards per game.

The Cardinals are in good shape. They have a strong defense led by linebacker Daryl Washington, who has been a force in the middle. The defense has been able to generate a lot of turnovers and has been playing well against the run.

The Cardinals' offense has struggled at times, but they have been able to move the ball and score points when they need to. They have a strong running game led by running back Adrian Peterson, who has been one of the best in the league.

For many of these leaders, this is more than just a job. Last year, former football star Tom DeBrun devised a plan that included the saying "the best way to learn something is to do it." The first part of the plan was to get the students involved in training adventure trip leaders for UREC, a program that trains adventure trip leaders for UREC — students who guide others on mountain bike trails or do a little climbing together.

For deBrun, outdoor adventure is a lifestyle, not a hobby. He runs a mountain bike shop in his home town and spends as much time as he can outdoors. He says that this is a lifestyle that he loves and embraces the lifestyle he loves so much.

His two sons, who are 8 and 3 years old, are slowly learning to embrace the lifestyle he loves so much. When it comes to training adventure trip leaders for UREC, deBrun and his former boss take the lead. They take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip. When he first took over, either he or his assistant would take the students out on a five-day backpacking trip.

When you need support or advice when you're in charge, the students are always going to talk about who is going to make the decision. deBrun said. "As far as they're concerned, it's their program. They want to make the decisions."

The students have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.

The students have had a lot of success. They have been able to make some changes in the program, and the responsibility for leadership skills doesn't just sit on the shoulders of the leaders. The students are learning to make decisions and to lead.
Nothing says “it’s a new year” like walking into UREC and seeing that the entire population of JMU has suddenly walked in to workout on the track or to play basketball. This is a good workout, but it’s not the only good workout that can be had.

1. “The New Workout Plan” by Kanye West

The only way to get your body into shape is to do some exercise. If you’re looking to tone your body, you can do some exercise. Your body will be happy. And you’ll have a good time doing it.

2. “On To The Next One” by Jay Z

With its droning beat, this song is the perfect workout. Feel the burn yet? It’s 50, but more realistically it’s probably 49.

3. “Rock the Beat” by LMFAO

Nothing says “It’s a new year” like walking into UREC and seeing that the entire population of JMU has suddenly walked in to workout on the track or to play basketball. This is a good workout, but it’s not the only good workout that can be had.

4. “Crossroads (Remix)” by Adham Shaikh

This one is definitely a yoga activities suggestion. If you’re into soothing Indian drums and sitar, this song is for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.

5. “212” by Azealia Banks

This one is definitely a yoga activities suggestion. If you’re into soothing Indian drums and sitar, this song is for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.

6. “Crossroad” (Timothy Wisdom Remix) by Adham Shaikh

This one is definitely a yoga activities suggestion. If you’re into soothing Indian drums and sitar, this song is for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.

7. “Dancing” by Kool

What does “Dancing” mean to you? Does it matter? Pumping the volume up on this song is sure to pump you up.

8. “Take Over Control” by American Soul Sisters

Take control of your physique by doing jumping jacks to this club banger. But don’t treat it like a club banger. You need to get your body into shape.

Gary starts this song by rapping. “They pay me to mix up the club.” Work out enough in this song and soon they’ll be paying you to step in the gym with that fine body of yours.

10. “Whenever, Wherever” by Shakira

You want to get your feet moving. Beyoncé songs are also appropriate. If you’re into soothing Indian drums and sitar, this song is for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.

Have a great year, and enjoy your workouts.

Emmy Freedman is a history and media arts and design student. She can be reached at freedman@dukes.jmu.edu.

---

Adham Shaikh

“Crossroads” (Remix) is a song for you. It might put you to sleep, but it’s definitely a good workout.

Kool

“Dancing” is a song for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.

American Soul Sisters

“Take Over Control” is a club banger. But don’t treat it like a club banger. You need to get your body into shape.

Questions feat. G-200

“Furby” is a song for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.

Shakira

“Whenever, Wherever” is a song for you. It’s soothing, but it also has an upbeat beat to pump you up.
NOW SHOWING

MARVEL AT THIS...

Coming to Foxhills Townhomes for 2016-17 Leases
1. Water Included
2. Electric with cap included
3. Gym membership included
4. Basic internet included
5. Basic cable included